

ROY HAMILTON JR

CONTINUES THE LEGACY OF HIS FATHER

“Roy Hamilton Jr., son of the Legendary “Golden Boy of Song” Roy Hamilton, who recorded such hit songs as “You’ll Never Walk Alone” “Unchained Melody”, “Ebb Tide”, and “Don’t Let Go”, has committed himself to preserving the legacy of his legendary father. Blessed with the drive and ambition that is ingrained within all-stars, as well as the melodic, soaring tenor voice left to him by his father, he fills those big shoes with ease.”

“During his illustrious 15-year singing career, Roy Hamilton was known by many nicknames: Mr. Rock and Soul, The Gentle Giant, and, most notably, The Golden Boy of Song. But few of these nicknames fully encompass the majesty of his voice, the influence he had on the artists of his generation or the legacy his music has left behind. He was idolized by Elvis Presley, emulated by Jackie Wilson and Brook Benton, and covered by the Righteous Brothers. And his voice and legacy have earned him a place in the annals of history for years to come.”

Below we hear from Roy Hamilton Jr himself, about the legend who was his father and also about his dedicated and tireless campaign to keep his father’s legacy alive, whilst also becoming a legend himself. It is with great pleasure that we hear from Roy Hamilton Jr.
